Rarity: Card Type C: Creature Cat Warriors P/T: 2/2 Description: Forestwalk Cat is a type of creature used for felines. In Magic, the term refers to both regular cats and other feline creatures (some with wisdom), such as lions and tigers. [1] The first creature to bear the type was Cat Warriors in Legends (although Alpha's Savannah Lions were later issued to become a cat). The first card with the Cat subtype without a second subtype was Canyon Wildcat of Tempest. [1] Cats are available in all colors, but are mainly found in green and white. [2] Catfolk[edit | edit source] Cat Warriors[edit | edit source] Cat warriors are feline humanoids found throughout Dominaria, mainly on the continent of Jamuraa. There are various different strains of cat warriors, some similar to tigers, other leopards or jaguars, and others still cougars. Cat warriors have kept a relatively low profile throughout Dominaria's history, but date back at least to the thran empire era. There are various tribes of cat warriors. The Chit'in were visited by Gerrard Capashen and Mirri once. [3] The Ephravans, Hooraree, Khyyians, and Sulaki live in the Sukurvian Desert. After the Phyrexian invasion of Dominaria caused the destruction of the Jamuraan lands of cat warriors, their race was scattered in Dominaria. Panther, nacatl, and leonin warriors, and perhaps even nishoba, may be considered to belong to the same race as other cat warriors, but their cultures are distinct enough to distinguish them. The dominant catfolks as a whole seem to be extinct, with the exception of the Panther Warriors of Urborg Libero. Panther Warriors[edit | edit source] Panther warriors are exiles from cat warrior nations, many of whom had taken up residence in Urborg. Sometimes dark forces are needed, but they are usually neutral in their worldview. During the Mirage Wars, they were led by Purraj, an ally of Kaervek, who came with him to Jamuraa from Urborg, probably peri peri. I would like to thank the President-in- after Lord Windgrace's death, his followers again defended Urborg by sabotaging the artifacts of Kabbalah. [4] Organized in Free Urborg, they were led by Marivel. Leonin[edit | edit source] Leonin is a form of anthropomorphic lion found on several levels. They have a strong connection to the white mana. Mirrodin Leonin[edit | edit source] The Leonin of Mirrodin lived in the Fields of the Razor, their capital was Taj-Nar, the Ancient Tana. [5] Their culture is highly honored and religious, worshipping the white sun. The clerics of the suns must survive a year in the Fields of the Razor before being considered as complete abunas (clerics[6]) who are allowed to lead other Leonines in religious ceremonies, especially the Sunroar. As with all mirrodin creatures, they have partially metallic features. The Leonines shared a bond with the pteroni, flying reptiles, and specialized sky hunters used them as mounts. After Memnarch was defeated and Karn, the creator of Mirrodin, sent those kidnapped leonins from other planes from where they had come from, a schism running through the others. One group supported a new kha called Kemba, calling himself the kha-tal. The other, formerly Obu-tal, called for a revolution against old social structures, believing that it did not apply to the changed world. [7] Like all the inhabitants of Mirrodin, lions were attracted to that world by another plane. Although they have never been explicitly stated, it is possible that they came from Alara; both nacatl and leonines call their leader the kha, and after the Reformation of Alara, some Nacatl began to be called Leonin. Nacatl[edit | edit source] Nacatl are a breed of leonin from the Naya fragment (originally part of Alara). Males look very similar to Mirrodin's lion (without metal plating) and have light fur, while females lack pomace. Naya leonin shows a somewhat more physiological variety than mirrodin leonin; Nacatl has coats such as tigers, jaguars, ocelots, etc., while mirrodin leonin tend to stay with a more rigorous lion appearance. [9] The cat-people dominated Naya, but a rebel faction led by Marisi believed that they had become weak and that they should return to their true cat nature. Their empire crumbled and the nacatl were reduced to isolated tribes. At the time of the Conflux, nacatl were divided into at least two cultural groups: the peaceful Cloud Nacatl, which inhabited the mountainous ruins of their ancestors, and the violent wild Nacatl or claws of Marisi, who lived in the lowland jungles; the two groups had nothing but contempt for each other. Scratchforms is the writing system used by nacatl. Wild Nacatl scratchforms are mainly used by shamans. The most important text set in scratch shapes was the coil. Wild nacatl are a subgroup of which very little is known, except that the use of weapons and armor. Wild nacatl are larger and more muscular than other cat-people, without calves, gray fur and similar black tiger Their relationship with other nacatl is unknown. After the Conflux, when Alara was made all over again, some nacatl migrated to the civilized lands of Bant and began to integrate into the city's housing culture. Bant people-cats, which adapted to the chivalrous code of knights and soldiers, were simply called leonins. The Sunstrikers' Nayan pride is true to Ajani. It is their sworn duty to keep his lands safe. [10] Nacatl means Nahuatl meat, which is a Mesoamerican language used in particular by the Aztecs. Theros Leonin[edit | edit source] Unlike the proud leonin of other planes, the lions of Theros are marginalized in disgrace due to their previous support for the Archon Agnomakhos, who tyrannized Meletis and the surrounding lands. These leonines make a conscious effort to separate themselves from humanity and other races, until they worship the main gods of Theros, although some still occasionally honor Heliod and Nylea. Most live in the golden plain of Oreskos. Every year, on the day of the first full moon after the autumn equinox, matriarchs of all leonine pride gather in Tethmos to select a monarch, who serves as a representative of pride in the world. Nishoba[edit | edit source] Ogre-sized cats that mix the characteristics of snow leopards and smilodonts, nishobas lived as marauders in cold regions. The Nishobas are known to have lived in Terisiare and Otaria.[1] but may have died out after the end of the Firex invasion of Dominaria. Rakshasa endemic | of Tarkir, these anthropomorphic cats are also demons. [1] Similar to tigers in appearance, they are associated with the Brood Sultai, the members of the brood have entered into demonic contracts with them to gain power. Wield powerful dark magic that makes them fear. A single Rakshasa can devastate swathes of land or reduce an army to dust. They evoke horrors and abominations that engulf cities and devour legions. In the past, Tasigur, khan of the Sultai, offended the Rakshasa, who withdrew their support. Having been left vulnerable to new dragon attacks, Tasigur made a deal with Silumgar, leading him to a meeting with the other khans. Later, the Rakshasa renewed their pacts, but this time with Silumgar. The dragon lord fears that the rakshasa will eventually turn against him, but he knows that their magic is too useful for him. [13] Regular cats [edit | edit source] Examples of normal cats are: Domestic Cats[edit | edit source] Domestic cats had rarely been featured in Magic, until recently. When they are, they are often sacred creatures associated with white mana. Cats are sacred to the | god of solidarity, Oketra, even if he misses him. At least some are embalmed after death. Innistrad[edit | edit source] Sanctuary Cats patrols churches in order to eradicate devils. [edit | edit source] A variety of domestic breeds of cats such as Generous Stray and Charmed Stray are found on the streets of Ravnica. Eldraine[eldraine edit|editing Source of change] Eldraine's black cats appear near the Cauldron of Eternity as a Family Cauldron, and take advantage of his resurrection powers. Other cats[edit | edit source] Aryn[edit | edit source] Horned Cat Beasts by Tarkir and Ravnica. Once it smells, it hunts down its prey to the end. Felidars[edit | edit source] Sejiri's Zendikar continent is home to felidari, ferocious horned cat beasts. Some human knights are able to tame them. [14] Felidari who go through their first year of life can easily live to see a hundred more years. The felidari are also found in Kaladesh, where they are kept as guard beasts. The felidari on Ravnica are mainly associated with the Azorius Guild where they form strong bonds with a single individual, sometimes a criminal, allowing them to see through their eyes and find them everywhere on the plane. Some Ravnican Felidar are alate. [15] Firecats are cats | natives of the Pardici Mountains of Otaria. As the name suggests, their bodies are permanently on fire. Their extinct furs were often used as clothing by pardici barbarians. Ikorja Cats[edit | edit source] In Ikorja, cats are one of the dominant clades and in particular oversee Savai. They are elegant but sadistic predators that toy with their prey. Like all life on Ikorja, they are mutants, and many have wings, which Vivien Reid observes as not being seen as unusual there. [16] Nightcats [edit | edit source] A variety of cats native to Indatha as opposed to Savai. Shine. Jhovalls [edit | edit source] Jhovalls are huge cats native to Mercadia. They are fierce in combat and are large and strong enough to be used as mounts for fully armored warriors, although training to ride beasts takes many years of practice. The Jhovall knights, therefore, insolve the elite corps of both the Mercadian and Cho-Arrim army. Leotau are | semi-intelligent mounts used by bant's Three Inner Nations, remotely related to naya leonin. They are unique in that they are hooved animals; they have the heads and bodies of lions, but possess horse or bull legs. There are three varieties found in bant savannas: orisil, mherva and grohm. Undead variants of these species are present in Grixis. Maaka[edit | edit source] Six-eyed giant cats on Ravnica, loyal to Gruul. [17] Serpopards[edit | edit source] Based on a true mythological creature, snakes are snake cats endemic to Amonkhet. They serve the god Rhonas. Urborg Panthers[edit | edit source] Urborg Panthers are cat-like nightstalkers. Yalomar cats were | powerful felines from the Khone region on Coronдор. [18] A cat was used to train with numbered people in the Valley of Sacrifice. When the Numerates managed to destroy it by magic, the resulting explosion the Khonian midwives and killed all but one of those numbered, leaving only Gyddolien Mor alive. Alive. | Edit source] The Zheng are cat beasts of the Mountain and Sea Plan. They are known for their glowing horn and crackling stone roar and are the fiercest predators in the forest.
